AT WAIKIKI THE FOURTH

Followers of the dance will not have to leave Honolulu on the Fourth of July in order to indulge in their by the necessary presence of some favorite pastime, nor will there be any kindly gift in their living room. It necessity of issuing invitations for a private "rag" party, for the committee runs little risk of gaving anything homes are too generously supplied has secured permission to hold a dance in the public baths pavilion, afternoon of the Fourth.

George Martin, who successfully piloted the dance at Roaring Camp in February, has been placed in charge of this feature for the Fourth celebration, and has announced that ragging in all its various forms will be vogue during the afternoon.

Prizes will be awarded the best waltzing couple, the best couple dancing the two-step and the best "ragging" couple, the prizes now being on display at Wichman & Co.'s. The big pavilion at the baths has been reinforced so as to accommodate safely a large number of persons, and Berger's band will be in attendance

Unless one limits the price paid for wedding gifts to a certain amount one is likely to be carried away by enthusiasm from time to time, to the tune of a good many generously spent dollars.

There are many beautiful and use ful and distinctive gifts which can be bought under the $5 limit. If the bride is of a sentimental turn of mind and dislikes exchanging her gifts, try to choose something which will not be duplicated, or which, if duplicated, will still be useful. And always choose the present with some knowledge of the bride's tastes and needs in view.

If you are willing to have your gift exchanged, make sure beforehand that there is no reason to prevent an easy and satisfactory exchange, both to the shopkeeper and the bride. As for choosing something that the bride is sure to like, that is sometimes difficult. Some young women with strong opinions and a distinct notion of what they want their house to look like after they have settled it have been rally made miserable the giver avoids certain things she which will be really disliked.

'MIRACLE' More than a year was consumed in preparing for the "Miracle," the wonderful five-reel film brought to this city by M. H. Newman and to be presented at the Bijou Theater with the beginning of the week. When it is considered that the ordinary motion picture rarely takes more than two or three weeks to produce, one can realize the vast difference between this unique feature and the ordinary nickel picture. The "Miracle" tells the story of a miraculous statue of the Virgin Mary, the object of special veneration in one of the great medieval temples of Europe. A holy sisterhood was in devout attendance on the seyoung and beautiful girl known as Sister Beatrice, yielded to the who came to woo her in the shape of a young knight distinguished and handsome in appearance and most engaging in manner. Step by step the sister walks into the sinful list of the world. Diamond, Her adventure, full of thrills and excitement, makes up a large part of the story. None but the finest outdoor settings have been used, and the acting of the principal characters has evoked the admiration of critics here and abroad. The incidents portrayed on the screen are full of life and spirit and color.
